Kate's books range from spicy romance with substantial plot 🔥🔥🔥 to "scorch-your-eyelashes" reads 🔥🔥🔥🔥, all with guaranteed happy endings. When not writing about passion and romance, Kate's hiking the hills above an azure lake in British Columbia, renovating her house, or hunting down the last piece of hidden dark chocolate.

Extended Bio (150+ words)

Perfect for: Detailed features, speaking events, comprehensive media kits

Kate St. James writes sizzling contemporary romance where characters matter as much as chemistry and satisfaction is guaranteed. A Booksellers Best Award finalist with multiple published titles, Kate specializes in stories that range from character-driven spicy romance (🔥🔥🔥) to "scorch-your-eyelashes" steam-focused reads (🔥🔥🔥🔥).

Kate's stories unfold in vibrant Canadian cities—from Vancouver's gleaming towers against majestic mountain backdrops to Calgary's dynamic business energy, with escapes to smaller gems like Victoria. These sophisticated urban landscapes provide the perfect setting for passionate encounters and modern love stories featuring bold women and irresistible men.

An avid reader since childhood, Kate loves spending her days writing about the compelling characters populating her imagination. When she's not engrossed in her fictional worlds, you can find her hiking the hills above an azure lake in beautiful British Columbia, endlessly renovating her house with her adoring family (who stick around despite her questionable domestic skills) or ignoring smoke alarms blaring from the kitchen.

Kate also writes sweet and steamy contemporary romance as Cindy Procter-King, proving she can deliver heat at every level.
